

Good afternoon.

The host hotel link for Dev Nationals will open up on January 22. Please get the word out to your constituents so that they can plan accordingly. Click on this link to find the Dev Nationals website that should be up and going by the 22nd: <https://usagym.org/events/>

Again, as most of you should know, there is a rock festival at the same time as Dev Nationals in Daytona Beach. Hotel rooms are going for about $400+ a night. Since we have signed hotel agreements already, booking in our block will not be this much.

Finally, stress to your constituents the importance of planning ahead of time as we also have to compete with the women's program for rooms. Note that when someone from the women's program books a room from Thursday-Sunday, the room is dead to us for the week since most of our people will need rooms from Monday-Sunday/Monday.

Thank you and if I get additional information, I will let you know.

Update –

I do not see the link image on our events page yet, but the hotel link will be posted here:

Have a great day!
